

BATTLETECH

MASTER UNIT LIST BATTLE VALUES

Welcome to the BattleTech Master Unit List: Battle Values (version 1.0). Since even before Total Warfare was first published, it has been our goal to provide BattleTech fans with a comprehensive list of game units and their corresponding Battle Value.

This product is the first Battle Value list for units using the Total Warfare rules set. It offers over 3,500 variants for well over 900 individual combat vehicles. BMBV 1.0 focuses on ground combat and lists all 'Mechs (BattleMechs, OmniMechs, and IndustrialMechs), aerospace units (aerospace fighters, conventional fighters, small craft, and DropShips), Combat and Support Vehicles (including tracked, wheeled, hover, VTOL, and WiGE vehicle types), Infantry (conventional and battle armored), and ProtoMechs that have a published Battle Value. This also means that you can purchase a record sheet for every unit in the BMBV, via a Catalyst Game Labs published BattleTech product.

We have also provided faction availability for the Jihad era and Early Dark Age (Republic) era. This release of the product only list Dark Age availability for units that were introduced or updated in Technical Readout 3085 and Technical Readout 3085 Supplemental.

Future releases on this free version of the BMBV (numbered by revision) will be updated with new information as well as units from upcoming product releases. Also planned for upcoming releases include complete Dark Age faction availability and faction information for the Homeworld Clans. This release is focused on the Jihad and Early Dark age era and does not cover Homeworld Clans.

We hope you find this tool useful and welcome your feedback to make it a better resource, in the future.

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

The BattleTech Master Unit List: Battle Values (BMBV) list is provides players an easily printed PDF reference with all BattleTech combat units that have published record sheets with Battle Value. The list allows players to check the Battle Value of combat units and look for specific units by their unit name. Each unit's rules level is also listed, to easily allow players to choose units that fit the rules level of the game they will be playing.

The rules for using combat units in BattleTech game play can be found in Total Warfare, while the rules for their construction can be found in TechManual.

LEGEND

Unit Name

Name of the base design (Warhammer, Archer, and so forth)

Model Number

The model number (WHM-6R, ARC-2R, and so forth) of the specific unit variant. If the design is unique, then the unique name will appear in parentheses after the model number.

Type

A shorthand abbreviation for the unit type. Consult the table below for a full list of official unit type abbreviations.

Rules Levels

A descriptor for the minimum rules level that applies to the specific unit and model.

Standard (STND): Refers to the Tournament-Legal rules as found in Total Warfare and TechManual

Advanced (ADV): Refers to the advanced game play or construction rules found in Tactical Operations, Strategic Operations, and Interstellar Operations.

Experimental (EXP): Refers to the Experimental construction rules and advanced game play rules found in Tactical Operations, Strategic Operations, and Interstellar Operations.

Introductory (EXP): Refers to the Introductory construction rules and Introductory game play rules found in the Introductory Box Set.

Primitive (PRIM): Refers to the Primitive construction rules found in Interstellar Operations.

Source

A shorthand description of the sourcebook in which the unit may be found.

TRO: Indicates the Technical Readout in which the unit was referenced.

RS: Indicates the Record Sheets book where the unit's official game play sheet can be found. (Note that some Record Sheets books may exist as PDF-exclusive products only.)

Era Introduced

The BMBV lists the era each unit was originally introduced. This only refers to the broad era of play when the unit was introduced and does not reflect if the unit was available in any given future eras (such information will be made available in future products). The BMBV breaks down several of the standard BattleTech eras into sub-eras for greater precision. For standard-rules play, availability is based on standard era.

Faction Abbreviations

Consult the table on page 2 for a list of faction abbreviations.

*3049 was a watershed year that saw the Clans' arrival in the near Periphery. Designs fielded in 3049 are for the most part either Clan units built for Operation REVIVAL or the Inner Sphere's first "modern" designs. As a result, design first introduced in 3049 are considered part of the Clan Invasion Era and will reflect this in their Era of introduction.

Factchecking/Playtesting: John Haward, Øystein Tvedten, Craig Reed, Lance Scarinci, Paul Sjordijn, Roland "Ruger" Thigpen, and the members of the BattleTech forum who happily tore into the original beta name list and told us everything we'd missed.

Special Thanks: To the dedicated volunteers of the Master Unit List team. It's been a long road, filled with a lot of data crunching, mind numbing reviews, road blocks, pot holes and the dreaded "how hard can it be" questions. You have all earned a much-deserved rest... Okay, break's over; back to work. And finally to Ray Arrastia and Rick Remer; Ray for taking a list of over 3500 entries and being willing to lay it out in a readable manner and Rick for being the original head of the Battle Value 2.0 project, without which we would never have gotten to this point.
